Stories of Seeking Truth

True seekers are few, the path is insanely hard, but the rewards are infinite.

So says this month's guest teller, Ashok Ramasubramanian, whose stories have been featured more than once on the Moth radio hour. In everyday life, Ashok is Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Union College. Originally from India, he did his undergraduate education at the College of Engineering at Guindy, and his graduate work at the University of Massachusetts and Dartmouth College, with post-doctoral training at Washington University in St. Louis. He is also into barefoot running and biking.

Come share your stories related to the theme or just come to listen.
Either way, you will be warmly welcomed!
